

PASTURE, RANGELAND AND FORAGE - OVERVIEW

Rainfall Index - Pasture, Rangeland and Forage (RI-PRF) is a federally-reinsured product that provides protection against a single peril - lack of precipitation. Coverage can be purchased by landlords, tenants and owner/operators for those acres important to their haying or grazing operation. Producers may select from a variety of coverage levels, productivity factors and two-month index intervals to personalize their plan. The Rainfall Index program uses weather data collected by the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration to determine rainfall levels. When the final grid index falls below your trigger grid index, you may receive an indemnity.

Availability

RI-PRF is available in the 48 contiguous states with the exception of a few grids that cross international borders.

Items to Consider

- RI-PRF may cover all or a portion of the insured's acreage, providing flexibility when deciding how to cover their specific risk.
- Plan uses long-term, historical, gridded precipitation data for the grid ID and index interval.
- Each grid and index interval are rated individually, providing options for the producer.
- You cannot insure overlapping intervals.
- The program is an area insurance plan and does not measure, capture or use any actual crop production. The producer's amount of production is not considered, and no on-the-ground inspection of crop condition is conducted to determine eligibility for an indemnity payment.

* To create premium estimate scenarios as shown above, utilize the "Estimator" tool in Hudson's eHarvest™ processing system.

* If the Final GRID index value is less than the coverage level, then:

$$\text{Payment Factor} = (\text{Coverage Level} - \text{Final GRID Index value}) / \text{Coverage Level}$$

* Indemnity = Dollar Amount of Protection for the Interval x Interval Payment Factor
